

Hello everyone! You are receiving the first edition of my newsletter. If you'd like to see it with lots of cool pictures, please go to my website www.stevenkeeler.com, and click "newsletter". And please forward this to anyone you want.

THE WANDERING MIND NEEDS TO KNOW

Newsletter #One

August 14, 2004

ELECTION NEWSFLASH!!!

When we are ready, as a nation, to have a system and president of integrity, we will!

The simple energetics of the matter is that until each of us "elects" to live a personal life of integrity (defined as consistency in word, thought and action) we cannot create this.

When we can drive into Mcdonald's, spill hot coffee on ourselves, sue, and win; or we think a new wife/husband will make us happy; or we work at a job we hate—well, you get the idea.

I hear so much talk about how bad our current president is, that he's a crook, that he stole the election, that we need a new president.

What are we doing when we say this? We are not accepting responsibility but blaming someone else. This can never equal integrity or joy or peace. How do I know? When you say these things, does it make you feel more or less peace inside?

I hear so many people say "they" are doing this to us, "they" are doing that—are you a victim or what? What guides victims? Fear.

As long as you let fear guide you, you are denying who and what you really are: God or a child of God, or spirit or any name you give to your idea of spirit.

And what is God afraid of? Has God ever failed? Is there anything God can't do? No. God is your core, your identity, is your life force. This comes not from outside, but from within each cell, from within every molecule that makes you up.

So this election day, or better yet, don't wait, do it NOW, elect peace, joy, love to be your guide; elect to remember who you really are; elect to believe you are the powerful creator of everything in your world; elect to understand that if you find something that doesn't fit in your world, that you can change it by simply being more in integrity with who you are, by finding ways to allow your powerful life force to flow more strongly through you.

Let's become a nation of powerful creators following our own inner light. The light that comes from our source, which guided the founding fathers of our nation. Let's show the world how to take responsibility for what we are creating, first as individuals, then in our relationships, then as a nation, rather than continue to be blamers and victims, guided by a fear that we actually create when we forget who we are.

LOVE TO YOUR SPIRIT GREATNESS,

STEVEN KEELER

www.stevenkeeler.com

Upcoming events:

Fall '04: "The Energy of Abundance", Mt Shasta, CA

Sept/Oct '04: "On Becoming More Fully Human" (dates to be determined) Budapest, Hungary

If you are interested in having Steven come to present for you, or work with your community or organization, please contact him via his email address.